

eyes on us

By: Fran Meirovich, Mila Daniella Pellar and Carlyne Nedee

Our theme is everyone's eyes are on us. The pressure is on us because we have a reputation to uphold. Parents of gulliver students put a lot of pressure on their kids. They need good grades so sometimes it feels like all eyes are on us on us as students.

Our fonts

- Eyes

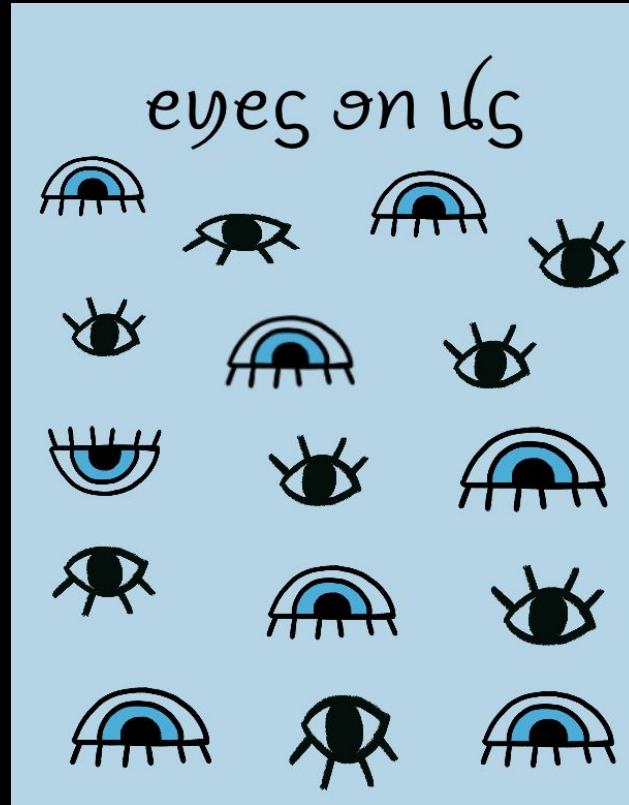

- eyes

- eyes

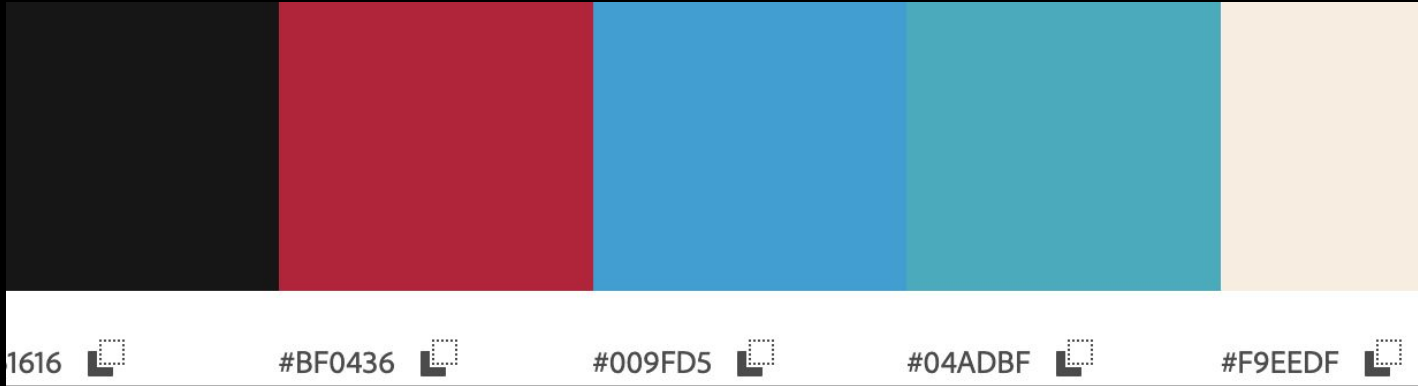

This is our inspo photo

cover idea ↓

Color Palette

Walking in to the new the school year, the pressure was on. There were eyes on us. There where a lot of changes, new students, new teachers, new administration, new rules. But there were also new chances we could take, new challenges we could overcome.

There was pressure to make this year a success. There were some wins, some losses. To find new friends, ace our classes, win our games. We won the first middle school cheerleading competition. We lost the football game against Belen. We had a blast in Washington, DC visiting monuments. The mods flooded on rainy days.

The pressure got to us, but we stayed strong until the end. By the time we cleaned our lockers on the last day, we looked back and felt proud of what we accomplished we realized that even though eyes are on us all of out hard worked payed of.