

THINGS CHANGE

By ; Bella C, Bella S, Mila M, and Katarina M

Theme and three sentence description

The theme we are proposing is THINGS CHANGE, and this idea is relevant because things are always changing, for example the new schedule, the construction, and the fact that some people went from online back to in-person school. The look of the yearbook would be like any standard notebook with lined paper and some doodles. We can carry the theme of Things Change throughout the yearbook by using the word Things Change and continuing the color palette.

Color Palette

Our main color pallet would be shades of blue, grey and pops of red, and whichever color the doodles are.

10 Sentence Original Opening Copy!

We all know things change, for better or worse. This can be hard, but the Gulliver community embraced this change! We dealt with the construction, the masks, the evolving schedule. We adjusted our lives around the pandemic, and now, as we are slowly returning to the normal world, we are experiencing change again! Students who were online all last year are coming back in-person. Things are always changing like the seasons and age, but we have learned to be flexible and to stick together! Something that won't change is the mindset to strive to do the best we can. There will be some changes which may be hard at first, but when we learn to accept it and be adaptable, these may even help us. Everybody struggled a little bit with the new schedule, but when we learned where and when our classes were, the changes like community time and tutorial became super helpful and fun! One thing that will never change is the loving and caring Gulliver atmosphere!
