

ALL OUT!

Gulliver Prep Yearbook
2023-2024

All Out Description:

Going all out for pep rallies, musicals, and school events shows that we don't take anything for granted and that we take our school spirit seriously. So when there is a reason in season. You'll see us. all out.

10-sentence theme copy:

When we do things, we don't do it like everyone else. We go all out.

Fall Pep Rallies? Color wars, Balloon popping games, sports announcements.

Pep rallies? We cheer louder than ever, stomp our feet on the bleachers, and show our school spirit with face paint.

Spirit week? Everyone dresses up. Whether it's onesies, skirts, t-shirts or body paint. We go all out.

Summer ended, School started. We got to go all out again. Students were excited for their new classes, teachers, and classmates.

We went all out in class- The teachers this year were very helpful and new electives gave us chances to explore more things. The art class made a giant painting with all the students, and the engineering students hosting a May The 4th Party in the gym.

We went all out in sports- Cheerleaders were cheering as loud as ever, football teammates were hyping each other up. We started off the year with the first football game of the season where we brought our school spirit to the next level. Then, the volleyball game had the crowd cheering as loud as they could.

We went all out for special occasions. Sixth graders showed their school spirit by dressing out in Gulliver pajama bottoms. Eden Cohen and Pau Garcia came with matching shirts along with their PJ pants to the breakfast. The Gulliver Prep middle school play, “I Never Saw Another Butterfly” had every seat filled every night. The student actors did a great job performing and the gym was erupted with applause at the end.

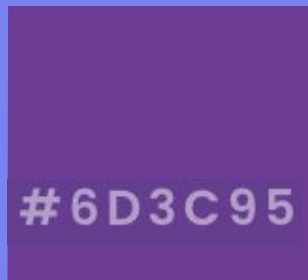

During pep rallies, students cheered louder than every, stomping their feet on the bleachers, and screaming as loud as they could. The dancers performance left everyone with their jaws on the floor with all of their impressive turns and moves.

No matter what it is, what grade we are, raiders go all out.
